IN THE OIL FIELDS.

The well of J. B. Doan, which came in Saturday on Turkey Hen, is good for about 50 barrels a day.

The Lorentz No. 2 at Sand Hill was drilled in Tuesday morning and is the equal of No. 1. It is about 500 feet east of No. 1. The new strikes in the Sand Hill district are attracting much attention and some go so far as to say that the best of the field is yet undeveloped.

Sistersville, W. Va., April 27.—The well of Bunnell & Work on the Schanwreker farm, one and a half miles north of St. Mary's, in the Cow Run district, and which was expected in the day yesterday, came in early this morning and is making 100 barrels a day.
Mr. Bunnell went there yesterday to be present when it was expected in, and says that it is good for the above number of barrels for some time. They are considerably elated over their good luck, as they only expected a flow of 20 to 30 barrels.

Shay No. 2, on Indian creek, is now on top of the sand and is expected in today. Prospects are good, as the well is now spraying oil in considerable quantities.

The Kanawha Oil Company's well on the Boles farm, out on Middle Island, which came in yesterday, is now doing about 40 barrels, as predicted by its owners.

The Carter Oil Company's well on the E. C. Freeland farm, out on Sancho, came in today and is a good well.

The Union Oil Company, drilling on the Wm. Underwood farm, in the Mc-Elroy field, is now on top of the sand and expects to drill in late this evening, having stopped drilling on account of having some slight defects to remedy.

Some large lease holders from near Greenwood, Ky., are in the city and have arranged for the shipping from here of a complete set of machinery necessary to make the regular hole for a flow of the fluid. They have sangguine hopes, but as this location is as yet undeveloped, it remains to be seen whether they are successful or not.

The Victor Oil Company is making preparations to sink another well just back of Ben's Run. They have the rig on hand and will erect it just as soon as the weather will permit.

The Waynesburg Oil Company are casing their well just back of Belleville, in Wood county.

F. A. Sutton is getting the material on hand for a well near Cresaps, just south of Powhatan.

The Moundsville Oil Company are getting pipe on the ground for connecting their well in Marshall county to the pipe line.

The Union Oil Company received today a 250-barrel tank, which they will erect at their new well in the Waverly field.

Retrospection.

Little yellow Dandelion, herald of the Spring:
You are looking just as fine in your gold and green
As you did in days of yore in the long ago.
When we plucked you by the door for your down to blow.

One o'clock, two o'clock, just as we desired.
We would blow your downy top until we were tired.
Then we'd spit your milky stems into silvery curds.
Into garlands weaving them, little boys and girls.

You're the first to come in Spring, e'er the snow is gone.
Of all the flowers to which I cling you're the dearest one.

Though you have another name, I can ne'er To love you just the very same, Yellow Dan-dellion.

See these bony fingers now,—all the dimples gone.
Furrows scattered o'er my brow, life's begun to wage.
Could I blow the hours today back to olden times.
Then my head would be less gray, little Dandelion.

I may never see you more in the coming hours When you do the landscape o'er with your golden flowers.
Other hands the same as mine then to you will cling.
Little Yellow Dandelion, herald of the Spring.

trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures by giving the needed tonic to the bowels, and few America and Americans.

A recent traveler in Europe notes the curious and somewhat humiliating fact to a resident of this country that the Italians, and the Latin races in general, speak of "America" without meaning the "United States" at all. When a tourist in Rome asks to be driven to the American College he is taken to the stately edifice erected by South America instead of the corresponding modest building which owes its existence to the North. When he goes to Venice and reaches the Church of the Frari, he reads in his guide-book that Canova's monument was the gift of the world, being built with money contributed by Italy, Germany, France and America—"that is to say, South America, and not the commercial and industrial States of the North." He finds in the libraries of Italy and Spain many books relating to America, which limit that general designation to the South American countries. In speaking of himself as an American, he is apt to be surprised by inquiries about Argentine affairs, or to be shown a Brazilian cactus as something "from home." His national pride is humbled at every turn by the prevailing conception of America that leaves out his native land and ignores his favorite idea that it stands for the full meaning of the word. It would be amusing if it were not so exasperating to find that the Latin imagination thus magnifies South America, and trivializes the great republic that is to him practically the whole hemisphere.

There is something to be pardoned, however, to this foreign lack of comprehension. It was not North America that Columbus discovered. He fixed attention first upon the lower continent, and the Latin races have always clung to it as representing America.
They know, of course, that there is another continent over here, and a nation that ranks with the foremost of the earth, but whatever else it may be to them, it is not America, as it is to us.

Moreover, we are disposed to forget how far our country really falls short of being all of America in a geographical sense. A glance at the map will show, as another writer says, that "in fact, save for Alaska, it would scarcely be more than a waicstcoat on North America alone, British Columbia being the coat and Mexico and Central America the trousers; and then there is South America, with Brazil, like a shawl or big mantilla clasped with diamonds across its shoulders, Chili like a long scarf fluttering along its side, and Guiana like a shoulder-knot in ribbon of three colors, one loop prone to untying and extending too far." It will be seen, therefore, how easy it is for the Latin imagination to go astray in this matter, and to miss the real importance of the United States in this immense area which constitutes America. We have imparted special significance to the name by our remarkable success as a people, but we have not yet gained the right to monopolize it, and to demand that the world shall use it only with reference to our country.

The fact that a good deal of America lies outside of our dominions is recognized by our laws. We speak familiarly of our flag as the American flag, and of ourselves as American citizens, but in all acts of legislation, in all judicial proceedings, and in all diplomatic correspondence, the qualifying term "United States" is employed. Mr.
Cleveland is not President of America, but of the United States, and the same distinction exists as to the Constitution which is the basis of our Government.

The time may come when the map of America and the map of the United States will be identical, and the two names synonymous; but until that time arrives, a certain measure of discrimination will need to be observed. We are the most intelligent and progressive of Americans, unquestionably; but we are not the only Americans, by any means. Before we can claim an exclusive right to that designation, it will be necessary for us to realize some extensive dreams of conquest and put the beneficent effulgence of Old Glory into the skies of many countries where other flags now float. Possibly the Monroe doctrine contains the germs of such an expansion of our territory and our institutions; or it may be that there is concealed in the general philosophy of things a law of gravitation, a force of destiny, by which all America will ultimately be molded into one coherent and incomparable nation.

But such a consummation is still too remote and uncertain for practical consideration.—[Globe Democrat.

Attempted Rape.

CAMBRIDGE, O., Apr. 27.—David Creamer, a married man with a family, was arrested at his home here tonight on the charge of assaulting Pearl Lyons, aged eleven. The alleged assault took place last night, but the girl did not tell of it until tonight, when her father started on the hunt for Creamer.
Being unable to find him, he went before "Squire Turner and swore out a warrant for his arrest. He was found at his home and was taken to the ju-stice's office, where he was placed under $1,000 bond for a hearing tomorrow afternoon.

A THRIVING BUSINESS.

The Stevens Organ Co. One of Our Most Successful Industries.

The rapidity with which the splendid products of the Stevens Organ Company are meeting with deserved recognition of their merits is cause for mutual congratulations between the city and the gentlemen interested in the plant. The business has already grown beyond the present capacity and the possible output of every department will have to be increased immediately.
In a single day, Monday, eight orders were received, representing the capacity of the factory for a week. Over 150 instruments are now in process of construction and the demand is by no means satisfied.

Yesterday we inspected one of the new style F. organs being shipped to the Athens State Hospital, and without hesitation pronounce the instrument one of the very finest. The case is finished in burl walnut, 5-ply veneering. The same instrument is also finished in finely figured mahogany and white quartered oak. Besides this the factory is turning out two other new styles, B in solid walnut and solid cherry, and E in solid white oak and solid mahogany.

There are many people in Marietta who will probably never realize the extent and completeness of this institution, and the excellence of its product, until they have paid the factory a visit.

After Oil in Trumbull County.

WARREN, O., April 28.—It developed here Monday that a company has been formed in Chicago to drill for oil in this county and the adjoining counties of Portage and Ashtabula. The prospectors are leasing 30,000 acres for the purpose of making several tests.

Flouring Mill Damaged by Fire.

CANTON, O., April 28.—Fire in Joseph M. Hall's flouring mill Tuesday morning did damage to the extent of $10,000; insurance, $7,000. Spontaneous combustion is the supposed cause. The damage was principally confined to stock and machinery.

Cracksmen's Good Haul.

MARTIN'S FERRY, O., April 28.—Burglars cracked the safe in the general store of Jacob Maule, at Colerain, Monday morning, and carried away nearly $400 in cash, three signed checks, notes and other valuable papers.

Gen. Grant's Memory Honored.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—Gen. Grant's memory was honored with speech, story and good fellowship at the Union League Monday night. Many prominent men in military, naval, official and civil life were present. The dinner was held in the large banqueting hall, which was profusely decorated with flowers and bunting.

Grant's Birthday.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 28.—The tenth annual dinner of the American club in honor of the birthday of Gen. U. S.
Grant was given Monday evening. The feasting and brilliant oratory drew a representative assemblage of republicans to the Monongahela house where the festivities were held.

OFFICE OF GENERAL SECRETARY, 28 LAFAYETTE PLACE.

NEW YORK, April 22d, 1896.

MR. S. R. VAN METRE,
Marietta, Ohio.

"DEAR SIR:—

I have been informed by the firm of Sweet Orr & Co. that you have been called upon by a so-called representative of the garment workers of the Knights of Labor and informed that Sweet Orr & Co.'s goods are boycotted. This is the very first time I have heard of any such thing, and cannot understand why an attack should be made on such a reputable firm, and a firm that operates a union shop in every respect, and above all, has the stamp of our organization upon his garments as being under fair and union conditions.
What more could be desired by any one, whether a Knight of Labor or not? All the employees of the firm, numbering about one thousand, have been members of this National Union (Local Unions 18 and 84) for the past five years, so how could the firm be discriminating against anyone? Does Mr. Seegers want the members to join his so-called Organization, which only has a paper existence, and has the support of no one? Mr. Seegers himself is not a garment worker, and does not earn his living at the trade. If he has imposed upon any of the unions of your locality I will write immediately so as to inform them of the facts."

I send you a copy of our official journal which fully gives the standing of Sweet Orr & Co. I am however much obliged to you for the consideration shown towards organized labor.

Trusting this explanation will suffice, I am

Yours respectfully,

HENRY WHITE, Gen'l Secretary.

full line of their Overalls and Cassimere, Jeans and Cottonade Pants.
